BIO LANDSCAPE & MAINTENANCE EXPANDS THROUGH MERGER

- Customers and stakeholders gain significant value through BIO's strategic opportunity to expand its services, resources and geographic footprint -

Houston, Texas, April 30, 2008 – Houston based BIO Landscape & Maintenance Inc. (www.biolandscap.com) today announced that it has become part of the Yellowstone Landscape Group, one of the largest full service landscape providers in the United States. BIO's leadership team will retain significant ownership in Yellowstone and will lead the Company's expansion throughout Texas.

Robert Taylor, President of BIO Landscape & Maintenance, said, "Yellowstone joins us in recognizing that our people are our most trusted asset in delivering the same high quality of customer service that our customers have come to expect for decades. Our shared culture and vision for delivering the highest quality service will be greatly enhanced by bringing additional resources for growth through technology, business and landscaping processes. Our entire organization and key stakeholders are excited about the opportunities that this strategic opportunity brings to all of our customers, employees and community."

BIO Landscape & Maintenance is recognized as a premier landscape services Company in the greater Houston area and provides comprehensive landscape and horticultural services to the commercial, municipal, institutional and estate markets. BIO is a true environmental steward and market leader as it has been utilizing green and sustainable horticultural and integrated pest management practices for decades. Yellowstone Landscape Group's CMO and Executive Vice President, Judith M. Guido, stated, "I've been privileged to be a part of this industry for a very long time, and the team at BIO and the Yellowstone Landscape Group are some of the brightest and most experienced people I've met in the Green Industry. The opportunity to work with a team of true professionals and take landscape management to a new level for our customers, employees and industry is a very exciting and rare opportunity."

BIO Landscape & Maintenance, which will go by the name of BIO Landscape & Maintenance, a Member of Yellowstone Landscape Group, is one of the largest professional landscape firms in the country. They have successfully served the greater Houston area for twenty five years by working with municipalities, general contractors, developers, owners, property managers, HOA boards, architects and real estate professionals to provide them with environmentally fiscal landscape solutions in addition to a positive return on their landscape investments.
